

Col. Roosevelt Asks Committee to Adopt Preparedness Policy

Amalgamation of Progressives With G. O. P. Expected If it Can Be Accomplished "With Honor"

CONVENTION WILL BE HELD JUNE SEVEN

EMBARGO ON COAL TO NEW ENGLAND CUTS PRICE

Prices Drop From $2.70 to $2.50 and $2.25 at the Mine

Although the price of coal has dropped from $2.70 at the mine to points ranging from $2.25 to $2.50, operators in central Pennsylvania believe the former figure will be reached again during the winter. Much depends upon weather conditions; and also upon the likelihood of a long cessation of work when the present district scale expires March 1st.

The embargo on coal to all points in New England has caused a compulsory falling off in the demand for coal. New England consumers would be glad to get coal, if it were possible, but the railroads have shut down on shipments to the big manufacturing districts.

Until a few days ago central Pennsylvania shippers were routing coal through West Albany, but the congestion became so great on that route that the railroads closed it to everything but absolutely necessary goods. The route (Delaware & Hudson) is open; and South Amboy is open, but an embargo is expected in a day or so inasmuch as it is now being routed these points. Embargoes placed by the New York Central, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Boston & Albany, Boston & Maine, and other roads.

The prediction is freely made that once the embargoes toward the north are lifted—and if the weather keeps cold—the demand for fuel from the big manufacturing districts, coupled with the demands of the railroads and steel mills which are storing coal, will jump the price of bituminous past the recent $2.70 price to $3 a ton at the mine.

OPERATORS ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD MEETING HERE

Meeting in March For Taking up of Wage Agreement Proposition

The annual meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Operators' association has been called for Clearfield the latter part of this month, when officers will be elected for the ensuing year. It was said yesterday that no discussion of the scale will take place at the meeting. The operators will meet at Clearfield early in March for the purpose of taking up the wage agreement proposition. It is certain that for 10 days at least after that date the mines will be shut down, but that will not be unusual. None of the operators in this region are saying anything these days about the possibility of a strike.

None of the central Pennsylvania operators are in Chicago at the conference being held there with John P. White of the United Mine Workers association. As a matter of fact the local operators have never attended meetings like this west. When prices in this district are to be discussed, they are held either in Dulles or in Philadelphia.

Chicago, Jan. 11. (By United Press)

Calling on the Progressive national committee to cast aside all purely partisan considerations, Theodore Roosevelt today wired a plea for preparedness to the committee. He met in conference prior to selecting a date for the parties national convention. Roosevelt's message declared the country is facing a great crisis and the nation has fallen far short of its duties for the past eighteen months. The message makes no mention of Roosevelt as a candidate.

The telegram in part was as follows: "I send you my hearty greetings. We as a country are facing a great world crisis in which for the past eighteen months this nation has fallen far short of its duty both to its own people and to the raw abiding nations of mankind. There is a crying need that we shall cast aside all purely partisan considerations and disregard all but the final issues affecting the national life and shall strive wholeheartedly for a sound America."

Chicago, Jan. 11. (By United Press)—Three fourths of the Progressive national committee are here today to select a date for the national convention. Their amalgamation with the Republican party is expected if it can be accomplished "with honor."

As the committee prepared to meet at the Congress hotel at 11:00 a. m. today sentiment of both eastern and western committeemen indicated a return to the G. O. P. is more than possible. It is up to the Republicans. Changes early today were considered nine to one in favor of a Progressive national convention in Chicago June 7, simultaneous with the Republican convention.

It can be said with positive assurance that if Theodore Roosevelt or some other Progressive Republican is nominated by the G. O. P. the Bull Moose will become a memory. The dramatic bolt of the party from the Republican convention here four years ago will have an equally dramatic contract in their return to the party.

STEEL COMPANY EMPLOYEES FAIL TO WALK OUT

Workmen Refuse to Walkout and Are Apparently Satisfied With Increase

Youngstown, Jan. 11. (By United Press)—Plans to execute the strike of laborers to the Carnegie and Brier Hill steel companies failed to materialize today. The scheduled walk out was to occur at noon after the men received their weekly pay and was planned to help fellow workmen at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and the Republic Iron and Steel company to obtain an increase in pay to 25 cents an hour. Failure of the walk out was taken to indicate there will be no systematic strike in the Mahoning Valley and that the men are satisfied with the recent grant of ten percent wage increase.

OVER ONE HUNDRED FILE APPLICATIONS FOR 1916 LICENSES

Remonstrances Being Filed Against Practically Every Applicant This Year

Organized Fight Being Made by the Temperance Workers Through Attorney Roland D. Swoope of Curwensville.

Monday morning, January 17 Judge Bell will open the 1916 license court at which time over one hundred applications will be made for liquor licenses in this county. This number is five less than that of last year when there were 107 made application. Applications are being made for 77 hotel licenses, 22 wholesale licenses and three brewery licenses. Of this number eight hotels and one brewery, of Clearfield, are making applications.

It is expected that the licenses will be granted only after one of the hardest fights ever witnessed against rum in this county, has been made. The temperance people through their attorney, R. D. Swoope have circulated a large number of remonstrances in this county against practically every hotel, wholesale and brewery. Probably this year's license court will be the longest and most interesting ever held in Clearfield county owing to the hard fight which the organized temperance forces are making. The forces have organized into one body, the Clearfield County Temperance league, which have workers in every township and borough in the county. A remonstrance with dozens of names of the leading citizens of every community will be presented to Judge Bell.

The following liquor license applications have been filed with the Clerk of the court and will be heard by Judge Singleton Bell the week beginning Monday January 17th, 1916.

FARM BUREAU IN NEW YORK GREATLY BENEFITS FARMERS

Great Improvement in Quality As Well As Quantity of Crops is Shown

Valuable Assistance Rendered Farmers—Expert Advice and also Incentive Productive of Excellent Results.

Prior to the formation of the farm bureau organizations in the state of New York, along the B. & P. Ry., the general feeling among the farmers was one of self-confidence, and there was an apparent lack of effort or desire to secure the benefit of expert advice and to adopt improved farming methods. But during the past year, the field demonstrations given by the farm bureau managers has revealed the lack of proper knowledge on part of the producers, and has demonstrated the possibilities for increased production, as well as improvement in the quality of the crops raised in each county. This has also had the effect of causing the farmers to take more interest in the organizations, such as granges, institutes and the farm bureau meetings, and a better appreciation of the efforts put forth by the state railroads, and the boards of trade to improve the condition of the farmers and increase the production of their staple crops, now exists. The cow testing association, which has been one of the activities inaugurated by the farm bureaus, has pointed out the unprofitable animal in their herds, although she may apparently look the finest, and an economic loss has been discontinued by the sale of such unprofitable animal.

The attitude of the farmers toward the railroads and other corporations which have taken an interest in their welfare, has been materially changed for the better, to the end that many farmers have indicated their willingness to set aside plots of their land for demonstration purposes, and have felt well repaid by the increased production resulting therefrom. The advertising given to this particular farm, cultivated under the direction of the farm bureau managers become a valuable asset, not only to the farmer who owns the ground, but to others in that neighborhood.

The expert advice given by the farm bureau manager, as well as the incentive which one successful farm creates for the improvement of the adjoining farms, has been productive of excellent results during the past year. An increasing use of ground limestone and more intelligent method of fertilization, cultivation, spraying and other treatment for growing crops, have been largely due to the activities of the farm bureau organizations, and promise to improve the agricultural conditions to a far greater extent in coming years.

While the movement is really in its infancy as yet, it will only be a short time before the majority of the farmers in all the states, will become members of the farm bureau organizations, and secure the valuable assistance rendered through such organizations. This should result in materially improving the living conditions, as well as the financial re-

Pope Benedict Will Take Steps Toward Peace This Week

Cardinal Mercier and Bishop of Namur Will Explain Terms Belgium Will Accept to His Holiness

RESTORATION OF BELGIUM IMPERATIVE

BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Rome, Jan. 11.—Pope Benedict plans to take his first practical step toward peace this week. Cardinal Mercier with Monseigneur Heylen, Bishop of Namur, is expected to arrive here from Belgium today or tomorrow. They will be received in audience by his holiness and are expected to tell him upon what terms the people of Belgium will agree to an early peace.

Pope Benedict has been convinced from the beginning of the war that the restoration of Belgium by Germany was an imperative preliminary to any peace proposal, it is understood in vatican circles. He is said to have made this fact known to both Germany and the allies.

SCANDANAVIAN DELEGATES THREATEN TO CONCEDE TODAY

Speakers Receive Liberal Applause At First Meeting in Holland

BY CHARLES P. STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent) The Hague, Jan. 11.—Several Scandinavian delegates attacked the Ford Peace party here threatening to concede today because they do not approve the manner in which the expedition is being conducted. The Scandinavians believe plans of the Ford leaders should assume a more definite form since the neutral peace conference is about to begin in sessions. They are disgruntled too, because the American steering committee is in absolute control.

The first meeting in Holland was held last night in the auditorium of the zoological garden and the speakers received liberal applause. Several American delegates who insisted on smoking were expelled by the Dutch guards. Students numbering about 50 sailed for New York today board the Noordam.

BRITISH SOLDIERS WITHIN 17 MILES OF KUT-EL-AMARA

No News of Fate of Garrison Has Reached London Since Saturday

London, Jan. 11. (By United Press)—British forces marching to the relief of Kut-El-Amara are now within 17 miles of the beleaguered garrison according to information received. They must fight their way east through a Turkish army believed to outnumber them two to one. No news of the fate of the Kut-El-Amara garrison has reached London since the arrival of official dispatches covering Saturday night's fighting and it is believed possible the decisive battle already has been fought.

Not since the Boers surrounded the British force at Ladysmith has a British army faced a similar peril. For that reason news of the progress of the relief expedition is being awaited with the greatest anxiety if not alarm.

It would be singularly appropriate if the "Ashcart" got away with Penrose.

It's a good thing for some men that the stool of repentance can be hauled up on the seat of the water-wagon.

To the innocent bystander it seems that all Henry did was to wish another war on Europe which has been fought across at least three neutral countries and a belligerent one.

If a man's politics were inevitably blocked out for him by environment, the writer of these lines would be something between a Democrat, a Republican, a Mugwump, a Populist, a Nationalist, a Progressist, an Immediateist, a Royalist, a Liberal, a Conservative, a Single-Taxer, a Prohibitionist, a Socialist, an Anarchist and just a plain fool.

PEACE

Since the beginning of the war peaceful countries have unconsciously felt that when peace came it would be brought about by one of two men—President Wilson, acting for the greatest of the neutral countries, or Pope Benedict, acting for the numerically greatest church in Christendom. The one has disqualified himself and his country by a policy of indecision with the very nations whose attention and respect are essential to even the preliminaries of peace. The other has worked steadily on a foundation, and it is probable that when peace comes the Vatican will play the leading role.

A PROGRESSIVE CONVENTION

Contrary to the fears of many Republicans, there will be no menace in the Progressive convention which Chairman Perkins intimates will be held in Chicago next June, beginning on the same date as the Republican convocation. Quite in the opposite direction, such a convention will serve more quickly to bring the two parties to an agreement, a definite agreement, on the differences which now exist between them, because the leaders and fighting forces of both will be on the ground with complete organizations to whip out whatever unsettled questions may be brought before them.

It is conceded that the Progressive wing will not consent to go backward—will not revert to the murky politics of the bosses—and it may be accepted with equal assurance that it will be cold to advances by the Republicans which are based on partisanship without thought or consideration of the better things for which the new party stands. Nor will it, in the judgment of sane Republicans, consent to having its epitaph written unless the older party assimilates in the amalgamation many of the precepts and principles of the new.

Progressives all over the country seem fully conscious of their importance in the political crisis impending, yet their attitude is more than conciliatory. As in our recent county elections, they are ready and willing to throw the weight of their votes and influence with the Republican party whenever the Republican leaders and the Progressive leaders come into agreement on the issues which are vital between them. No one is more fully alive to this than the Republican leaders themselves, so it is improbable that the two conventions, if both are held, will terminate their sessions without a complete and amicable understanding. All good Republicans hope for this consummation and all good Progressives stand ready and willing to stretch a point if stretching is necessary to bring the parties into accord.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. WILSON WILL ENTERTAIN CABINET

Dinner Will be Served at Eight in State Dining Hall of White House

Washington, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—President and Mrs. Wilson will entertain Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, members of the cabinet and their wives and a number of intimate friends at dinner in the White House. Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Durazzo, where the debarkation of Roman legions is reported to be taking place once more, is now scarcely a shadow of the flourishing Adriatic seaport of before the days of Christ and during Roman Empire. Those merchants traded beyond the boundaries of the known world, began a study in war geography just prepared by the National Geographic Society, which tells of the Albanian port that recently awoke to feverish industry with the landing of Italian troops there for service upon the Servian flank. "At one time, Durazzo, then Dyrrachium, was a favorite starting point for expeditions of conquering Rome; for the Via Egnatia, a great military road, led from this city to Thessalonica, now Saloniki, and so, into the kingdoms of the north and east. The legions that subdued the chaos of the Grecian world and first brought Rome into contact with the Slave passed through Dyrrachium."

"Durazzo lies upon the Adriatic, across from the Italian port of Bari, and 50 miles south from the Albanian capital, Scutari, or, as the natives call it, Scodra. It is built upon the rocky peninsula of Pelu, which marks off the broad Bay of Durazzo from the open Adriatic. Old walls still surround the city, and the gigantic ruins of an ancient Byzantine citadel are overgrown with plane trees. Along the coast, around the town, are the dismal marshes that made it an almost impregnable point for defense in early Roman times. The harbor has slowly silted up. Two million phum, get Albanian misfortune, reflected in the present desolation of the port."

"Epidamnus, as Durazzo was called in its infancy, was founded by a joint colony of Corinthians and Corinthians in the seventh century B. C. It soon became a wealthy trading center, and a hotbed of political dispute; for the democrats and aristocrats fought such a bitter struggle there over the 'Rights of Man,' that Athens, Corinth, and Sparta were drawn into it. This struggle is considered among the contributing causes of the Peloponnesian War. Epidamnus became great and populous. In 229 B. C., it passed into Roman hands and changed its name. Augustus gave the city a colony of his veterans after the Battle of Actium in 31 B. C., and through the next four centuries Durazzo enjoyed its golden age of prosperity. With the breaking up of the Roman Empire it became the shambles of all the Balkans, and has remained the sport of conquest-lusty nations down to the present day."

Among The Politicians

Illinois Prohibitionists will hold their State convention in Peoria at the end of May.

Ex-Gov. Ben W. Hooper, of Tennessee, may try for the Republican congressional nomination in the First district, now represented by Sam R. Sells.

The name of United States Senator George W. Norris, filed recently as a presidential candidate before the Republican primaries of Nebraska, has been withdrawn.

Charles O'Connor Hennessey, member of the New Jersey state senate from Bergen County, has announced he will enter the Democratic primaries as a candidate for governor.

John M. Whitehead, of Jacksonville, former member of the Wisconsin state senate, has entered the contest for the Republican nomination for United States senator to succeed Robert M. La Follette.

Charles C. Craig, of Galesburg, a Justice of the supreme court of Illinois, is being urged by his friends to run for the Democratic nomination for governor of Illinois in the event of Gov. Duane declining to seek reelection.

The Republican State Central Committee of Wisconsin has decided to hold a party conference at Madison near the close of this month to prepare a slate of delegates to the national convention at Chicago. The delegates will be unaffiliated.

The recent marked progress of the prohibition movement throughout the country is expected to attract unusual public attention to the national convention to be held by the party this year. It has been decided to hold the convention in Minneapolis, July 19.

Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man and one of the principal backers of the defunct Federal base ball league, now aspires to be elected Republican National Committeeman for Oklahoma. He will be opposed by James Harris, the present national committeeman.

Senator Boies Penrose is credited with an intention to make a hard fight in the May primaries for his old seat in the Republican National Committee, as the representative from Pennsylvania. He is also expected to enter the lists as a candidate for delegate at large to the national convention, with the idea of heading a delegation opposed to the presidential aspirations of Governor Brumbaugh.

Political leaders in Washington and elsewhere are watching with much interest the contest between Congressman Woods of Iowa and McKinley, of Illinois for the chairmanship of the Republican congressional campaign committee. McKinley has been selected by the conservative wing, while Woods is the choice of the Progressive faction. McKinley is a former chairman of the campaign committee and Woods is the present chairman.

"General" Jacob S. Coxey, wealthy manufacturer of Massillon, O., who led the "Army of the Commonweal" to Washington in 1894, has made public the plans for his campaign as independent candidate for United States senator from Ohio to succeed Senator Pettibone. He states he will run on a platform demanding that congress authorize issue of $1,000,000,000 legal tender currency, half of which is to be used in creating a merchant marine, and half for naval equipment or coast defenses.

NORTHWEST POULTRY SHOW.

Wetertown, S. D., Jan. 11.—The annual show of the Northwest Poultry Association which opened here today, is one of the best exhibitions of its kind ever held in this section of the country. Hundreds of high-bred fowl, representing all the varieties known to the fancier, are on display from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa. The judging of exhibits and award of premiums began today and will continue until the close of the show Saturday night.

H. Robert Fowler H. B. Martin Herman Schulteis
Here are three of the men indicted with Representative William Buchanan of Illinois, in connection with plots to help Germany at the cost of American industry. The photograph just taken in Washington shows H. Robert Fowler, former representative from Illinois; H. B. Martin, a friend of Dave Lamm of Wall Street fame, and Herman Schulteis. It was taken after the indictment was found.

PROGRESSIVE NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY

Will Probably Put Entire Ticket in All States This Year

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—Preliminary steps in outlining the Progressive campaign for 1916 on national, not state issues, were taken today when the national committee of the Progressive party met here.

State, not national issues, were the basis for the fight last election. Progressives cited. The Progressive party was founded on national issues and its strength is there, party leaders asserted.

Chicago, Denver and Cleveland were leaders for the Bull Moose National Convention in June. Predictions were that the convention will be held June 21, one week after the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis.

Forty-seven national committeemen were to attend the meeting today. A task for the committeemen was to decide how many delegates from each state would be seated at the national convention, based upon the ratio of Roosevelt's vote in each state in 1912.

A difference between the committee meeting today and the impromptu conference that led to the bolt of the T. R. faction from the Republican party four years ago, was the probable absence of Roosevelt himself. He was not seen anywhere about early in the day. Victor L. Mordock, of Kansas, George W. Perkins, of New York and Gov. Johnson, of California, were mentioned today as presidential possibilities from the Bull Moose standpoint. A full ticket probably will be put in the national race in every state, if possible.

It was predicted that President Wilson's preparedness policy will not be attacked by the Progressives, but they probably will adopt a similar policy as one of their planks.

MRS. MOHR WAS FORMERLY SALES GIRL IN STORE

Former Secretary Tells of Threats Made by Mrs. Mohr to Her Husband

Providence, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—Mrs. Mohr, wife of the murdered physician, whose trial began here yesterday, was Miss Elizabeth Effingham Mann, formerly of Taunton, Mass. When Dr. Mohr first met her she was employed as a sales girl in a Providence department store. She was 19 and the doctor was 35 when they were introduced eleven years ago. Mrs. Mohr is tall and of medium weight with black hair and eyes. She is said to have a very emotional nature.

Closely connected with the principals in the tragedy are two other women, Miss Emily G. Burger, who was seriously wounded at the time of the murder, and Miss Florence Ormsby, who succeeded Miss Burger as Dr. Mohr's secretary. Miss Burger is 28, tall and good looking. Her father was a master brewer and now conducts a saloon in Huntington Avenue. She worked for Dr. Mohr at his office on Stewart Street until last March when, she has stated, she was compelled to leave her position because of Dr. Mohr's attentions. Five days before the shooting she went to work at the doctor's as his secretary at "Montpelier," his Newport villa, while his regular housekeeper was on a vacation.

Miss Ormsby, who is to be one of the state's star witnesses, is 19 and was born in Danbury, Conn. She will tell of alleged threats, oral and written, made against the doctor by his wife; and also of alleged threats to kill Miss Burger or disfigure her features with vitriol. Miss Ormsby was allowed to read and write confidential letters for the murdered physician and says she is familiar with all the three principal notes Mrs. Mohr is said to have sent her husband.

CAN'T LOSE HAIR.

Twenty Years From Today a Bald-headed Man Will Be An Unusual Sight.

One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.

He said, "I like the new hair grower, Midredina Hair Remedy, increased its sales as it has during the past year, it should be used by every man, woman and child with thinning hair."

"When Midredina Hair Remedy is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a bald-headed man will be a rarity." Sample sent for 10c to pay postage. Mail orders filled by Midredine Louse Co., Boston, Mass.

ALEXANDRA PALACE UNIQUE COLONY OF CAPTIVES OF WAR

More Than Three Thousand Aliens Live Under Military Rule in White City

No Social Distinction Shown in Three Battalions Complete City in Itself With Hospitals, Schools and Churches.

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Jan. 2.—(By Mail.)—Alexandra Palace, England's largest single internment camp for civilian prisoners of war, corresponding to Germany's Ruhleben, near Berlin, is the fascinatingly interesting British Military City I was permitted to visit today. No other press representatives were there; and this is the first time a press man has been permitted to enter this camp.

More than 3,000 enemy aliens, rich and poor from all parts of the world, are living at Alexandra Palace, north London. Hundreds of Croats and Poles from Pittsburgh and Detroit, captured on their way home to fight; well known European musical artists, interned while performing in England; Germans and Austrians, taken from ships in the Atlantic and the North Sea and Austro-German directors of big British firms; together with alien inhabitants of England, some of thirty years' residence, make a unique and remarkable colony, for the duration of the war.

There is no social distinction in the three battalions of a thousand men each. Military discipline prevails. It effects the English-German aristocrat and the lowliest Pittsburgh steel worker alike. A company of British soldiers guards the palace which in peace time served as a London Coney Island, or White City.

There are benevolent societies, directors' meetings, institutes of painting, drawing, sculpture; a theatre that would do credit to Broadway, workshops for dozens of trades, a fully equipped hospital; schools, post offices, foot ball and Swedish drill, laundries, mammoth spotless kitchens, stores and shops, commodious bath rooms and dozens of other things inside the barbed wire enclosing this multitude.

"They are making the best of it and it is my duty to let them enjoy life to the limit of military possibilities," remarked Col. Froom Walker, a British regular army veteran of twenty years in the Orient, who is the commandant.

The commandant's words voice the British attitude toward prisoners of war, both military and civilian. It considers the human side of those forced to live behind wire entanglements. Once a week the commandant turns over his office to prisoners who have complaints. He hears the stories and does what he can. The man with a grudge tells his troubles to the captain of his mess. If it is meritorious, the complaint is passed to the alien commander who governs a hundred men. He takes it up with the battalion commander, another alien who governs a thousand men. Then the complainant may appear in person before the veteran commandant, who never "strafes" the enemy.

Twice weekly the commandant personally inspects every one of the 3,000 beds housed under the great roofs of the palace. These beds are neat and clean, with four blankets and a soft mattress for each.

There are eight cooks for every thousand prisoners. The food is prepared and taken to the three great mess rooms, each of which can contain in floor space to the main lobby of New York's Grand Central station. Here is the food allowance, per man per day: 1½ pounds of white bread, ½ pound of meat; ½ pound of potatoes, two ounces of peas, lentils, beans or rice; two ounces of sugar; ½ ounce of tea or two ounces of coffee, one ounce of margarine or two ounces of cheese, turned milk salt and pepper. There is afternoon tea with bread and butter.

Each battalion has a large canteen where a prisoner may augment his food supply. The canteen is freely patronized by the canteens, but the ordinary fare is better than average Pittsburgh steel worker's had in his life. These Pittsburghers are not anxious for the war to close. They are satisfied.

The American embassy, God-father of all enemy aliens in the British Isles, works hand in hand with a special committee of the weather interned men to care for the special wants of the poor. The women and children on the outside are the principal beneficiaries of this joint benevolent society. More than 1,000 cases have been attended to since September.

Almost every prisoner looks forward eagerly to the weekly leisure. Here artists, some high in the profession perform vaudeville stunts. Professional actors present the latest plays. The theatre will seat 1,500 persons. The scenery was painted by artists who rank high in British and German art circles and is infinitely better than that found in the average London playhouse.

A smaller hall, for 500 persons, is set aside for the evening musicals. This hall is always crowded. At tonight's concert Herr F. Lorant, an Austrian violinist who will be heard in America after the war, was the star attraction. His program, much applauded, was: Toulou's Trille, by Tartini; Nocturne, Chopin-Saracat; Zeply; Hubay; Balad & Polonaise; Visuxtemp. An evergreen wreath was presented to Lorant by his admirers, the commandant doing the honor. Herr Lino Vesco, a Hungarian grand opera singer, reaped plaudits with Romanza aus Don Sebastiano by Donizetti. A piano solo, "Ballade As Dur," by A. Reschovsky, who studied under Paderewski, also was vociferously received.

Wonderful rose gardens surrounding the palace are kept by the aliens. In these gardens the married men receive visits from their wives or friends once a month, for fifteen minutes.

Special dispensation is granted to interned business men. Today a meeting of the directorate of a big British company, both British and German members attending, was going on in a room provided for the purpose. A British officer was listening. One of the German directors has lived in England for twenty years. He owns a mansion in London, a summer home at Margate, and has ten servants and an income that runs into six figures.

On Sunday there are church services for all creeds—Catholics, Lutheran, Jewish included; the latter for the scores of interned Polish and German Jews. Prisoners may write two letters each week. They smoke when they want to and do what they want to and there is no grumbling.

OKLAHOMA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 11.—The Oklahoma State Historical Society held its twenty-first annual meeting here today, with President Jasper Sipes, of this city, presiding. Many members were in attendance. In addition to the usual program of business the society listened to a number of interesting papers and addresses on topics of historical interest.

SPEEDBOAT ORGANIZATION FORMED IN MID-WEST

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—A new speedboat organization, in which the east will be represented only by Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and Toledo, is to be formed here this week. All the famous trophies and fastest motor power boats are now in the middle West. Apportionment of dates on the speed boat circuit of the great lakes will be the first task before the new organization.

Instead of choosing the champion boat from any one race, it is planned to total the number of points each boat has made in contests under the auspices of the organization and pick a winner. James A. Puph's Disturber IV now holds the championship.

BRYAN EXPECTED TO ANSWER

New York, Jan. 11.—William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, is expected to appear in the supreme court here tomorrow, which is the day set for him to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court for failure to obey a subpoena. Early in December Mr. Bryan was subpoenaed to appear as a witness in a libel suit brought by Petros P. Tatanis against a Greek newspaper. The plaintiff wished to question Mr. Bryan whether certain secrets of gun fire control were divulged to officials of the Greek government when two American battleships were sold to Greece.

EMBARGO ON COAL TO NEW ENGLAND CUTS PRICE

Prices Drop From $2.70 to $2.50 and $2.25 at the Mine

Although the price of coal has dropped from $2.70 at the mine to points ranging from $2.25 to $2.50, operators in central Pennsylvania believe the former figure will be reached again during the winter. Much depends upon weather conditions; and also upon the likelihood of a long cessation of work when the present district scale expires March 1st.

The embargo on coal to all points in New England has caused a compulsory falling off in the demand for coal. New England consumers would be glad to get coal, if it were possible, but the railroads have shut down on shipments to the big manufacturing districts.

Until a few days ago central Pennsylvania shippers were routing coal through West Albany, but the congestion became so great on that route that the railroads closed it to everything but absolutely necessary goods. The route (Delaware & Hudson) is open; and South Amboy is open, but an embargo is expected in a day or so inasmuch as it is now being routed these points. Embargoes placed by the New York Central, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Boston & Albany, Boston & Maine, and other roads.

The prediction is freely made that once the embargoes toward the north are lifted—and if the weather keeps cold—the demand for fuel from the big manufacturing districts, coupled with the demands of the railroads and steel mills which are storing coal, will jump the price of bituminous past the recent $2.70 price to $3 a ton at the mine.

OPERATORS ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD MEETING HERE

Meeting in March For Taking up of Wage Agreement Proposition

The annual meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Operators' association has been called for Clearfield the latter part of this month, when officers will be elected for the ensuing year. It was said yesterday that no discussion of the scale will take place at the meeting. The operators will meet at Clearfield early in March for the purpose of taking up the wage agreement proposition. It is certain that for 10 days at least after that date the mines will be shut down, but that will not be unusual. None of the operators in this region are saying anything these days about the possibility of a strike.

None of the central Pennsylvania operators are in Chicago at the conference being held there with John P. White of the United Mine Workers association. As a matter of fact the local operators have never attended meetings like this west. When prices in this district are to be discussed, they are held either in Dulles or in Philadelphia.

Chicago, Jan. 11. (By United Press)

Calling on the Progressive national committee to cast aside all purely partisan considerations, Theodore Roosevelt today wired a plea for preparedness to the committee. He met in conference prior to selecting a date for the parties national convention. Roosevelt's message declared the country is facing a great crisis and the nation has fallen far short of its duties for the past eighteen months. The message makes no mention of Roosevelt as a candidate.

The telegram in part was as follows: "I send you my hearty greetings. We as a country are facing a great world crisis in which for the past eighteen months this nation has fallen far short of its duty both to its own people and to the raw abiding nations of mankind. There is a crying need that we shall cast aside all purely partisan considerations and disregard all but the final issues affecting the national life and shall strive wholeheartedly for a sound America."

Chicago, Jan. 11. (By United Press)—Three fourths of the Progressive national committee are here today to select a date for the national convention. Their amalgamation with the Republican party is expected if it can be accomplished "with honor."

As the committee prepared to meet at the Congress hotel at 11:00 a. m. today sentiment of both eastern and western committeemen indicated a return to the G. O. P. is more than possible. It is up to the Republicans. Changes early today were considered nine to one in favor of a Progressive national convention in Chicago June 7, simultaneous with the Republican convention.

It can be said with positive assurance that if Theodore Roosevelt or some other Progressive Republican is nominated by the G. O. P. the Bull Moose will become a memory. The dramatic bolt of the party from the Republican convention here four years ago will have an equally dramatic contract in their return to the party.

STEEL COMPANY EMPLOYEES FAIL TO WALK OUT

Workmen Refuse to Walkout and Are Apparently Satisfied With Increase

Youngstown, Jan. 11. (By United Press)—Plans to increase the strike of laborers to the Carnegie and Brier Hill steel companies failed to materialize today. The scheduled walk out was to occur at noon after the men received their weekly pay and was planned to help fellow workmen at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and the Republic Iron and Steel company to obtain an increase in pay to 25 cents an hour. Failure of the walk out was taken to indicate there will be no systematic strike in the Mahoning Valley and that the men are satisfied with the recent grant of ten percent wage increase.

Organized Fight Being Made by the Temperance Workers Through Attorney Roland D. Swoope of Curwensville.

Monday morning, January 17 Judge Bell will open the 1916 license court at which time over one hundred applications will be made for liquor licenses in this county. This number is five less than that of last year when there were 107 made application. Applications are being made for 77 hotel licenses, 22 wholesale licenses and three brewery licenses. Of this number eight hotels and one brewery, of Clearfield, are making applications.

It is expected that the licenses will be granted only after one of the hardest fights ever witnessed against rum in this county, has been made. The temperance people through their attorney, R. D. Swoope, have circulated a large number of remonstrances in this county against practically every hotel, wholesale and brewery. Probably this year's license court will be the longest and most interesting ever held in Clearfield county owing to the hard fight which the organized temperance forces are making. The forces have organized into one body, the Clearfield County Temperance league, which have workers in every township and borough in the county. A remonstrance with dozens of names of the leading citizens of every community will be presented to Judge Bell.

The following liquor license applications have been filed with the Clerk of the court and will be heard by Judge Singleton Bell the week beginning Monday January 17th, 1916.

FARM BUREAU IN NEW YORK GREATLY BENEFITS FARMERS

Valuable Assistance Rendered Farmers—Expert Advice and also Incentive Productive of Excellent Results.

Prior to the formation of the farm bureau organizations in the state of New York, along the B. & P. Ry., the general feeling among the farmers was one of self-confidence, and there was an apparent lack of effort or desire to secure the benefit of expert advice and to adopt improved farming methods. But during the past year, the field demonstrations given by the farm bureau managers has revealed the lack of proper knowledge on part of the producers, and has demonstrated the possibilities for increased production, as well as improvement in the quality of the crops raised in each county. This has also had the effect of causing the farmers to take more interest in the organizations, such as granges, institutes and the farm bureau meetings, and a better appreciation of the efforts put forth by the state railroads, and the boards of trade to improve the condition of the farmers and increase the production of their staple crops, now exists. The cow testing association, which has been one of the activities inaugurated by the farm bureaus, has pointed out the unprofitable animal in their herds, although she may apparently look the finest, and an economic loss has been discontinued by the sale of such unprofitable animal. The attitude of the farmers toward the railroads and other corporations which have taken an interest in their welfare, has been materially changed for the better, to the end that many farmers have indicated their willingness to set aside plots of their land for demonstration purposes, and have felt well repaid by the increased production resulting therefrom. The advertising given to this particular farm, cultivated under the direction of the farm bureau managers become a valuable asset, not only to the farmer who owns the ground, but to others in that neighborhood.

The expert advice given by the farm bureau manager, as well as the incentive which one successful farm creates for the improvement of the adjoining farms, has been productive of excellent results during the past year. An increasing use of ground limestone and more intelligent method of fertilization, cultivation, spraying and other treatment for growing crops, have been largely due to the activities of the farm bureau organizations, and promise to improve the agricultural conditions to a far greater extent in coming years. While the movement is really in its infancy as yet, it will only be a short time before the majority of the farmers in all the states, will become members of the farm bureau organizations, and secure the valuable assistance rendered through such organizations. This should result in materially improving the living conditions, as well as the financial re-

Pope Benedict Will Take Steps Toward Peace This Week

Cardinal Mercier and Bishop of Namur Will Explain Terms Belgium Will Accept to His Holiness

RESTORATION OF BELGIUM IMPERATIVE

BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Rome, Jan. 11.—Pope Benedict plans to take his first practical step toward peace this week. Cardinal Mercier with Monseigneur Heylen, Bishop of Namur, is expected to arrive here from Belgium today or tomorrow. They will be received in audience by his holiness and are expected to tell him upon what terms the people of Belgium will agree to an early peace.

Pope Benedict has been convinced from the beginning of the war that the restoration of Belgium by Germany was an imperative preliminary to any peace proposal, it is understood in vatican circles. He is said to have made this fact known to both Germany and the allies.

SCANDANAVIAN DELEGATES THREATEN TO CONCEDE TODAY

Speakers Receive Liberal Applause At First Meeting in Holland

BY CHARLES P. STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent) The Hague, Jan. 11.—Several Scandinavian delegates attacked the Ford Peace party here threatening to concede today because they do not approve the manner in which the expedition is being conducted. The Scandinavians believe plans of the Ford leaders should assume a more definite form since the neutral peace conference is about to begin in sessions. They are disgruntled too, because the American steering committee is in absolute control.

The first meeting in Holland was held last night in the auditorium of the zoological garden and the speakers received liberal applause. Several American delegates who insisted on smoking were expelled by the Dutch guards. Students numbering about 50 sailed for New York today board the Noordam.

BRITISH SOLDIERS WITHIN 17 MILES OF KUT-EL-AMARA

No News of Fate of Garrison Has Reached London Since Saturday

London, Jan. 11. (By United Press)—British forces marching to the relief of Kut-El-Amara are now within 17 miles of the beleaguered garrison according to information received. They must fight their way east through a Turkish army believed to outnumber them two to one. No news of the fate of the Kut-El-Amara garrison has reached London since the arrival of official dispatches covering Saturday night's fighting and it is believed possible the decisive battle already has been fought.

Not since the Boers surrounded the British force at Ladysmith has a British army faced a similar peril. For that reason news of the progress of the relief expedition is being awaited with the greatest anxiety if not alarm.

TUESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11, 1916

It would be singularly appropriate if the "Ashcart" got away with Penrose.

It's a good thing for some men that the stool of repentance can be hauled up on the seat of the water-wagon.

To the innocent bystander it seems that all Henry did was to wish another war on Europe which has been fought across at least three neutral countries and a belligerent one.

If a man's politics were inevitably blocked out for him by environment, the writer of these lines would be something between a Democrat, a Republican, a Mugwump, a Populist, a Nationalist, a Progressist, an Immediateist, a Royalist, a Liberal, a Conservative, a Single-Taxer, a Prohibitionist, a Socialist, an Anarchist and just a plain fool.

PEACE

Since the beginning of the war peaceful countries have unconsciously felt that when peace came it would be brought about by one of two men—President Wilson, acting for the greatest of the neutral countries, or Pope Benedict, acting for the numerically greatest church in Christendom. The one has disqualified himself and his country by a policy of indecision with the very nations whose attention and respect are essential to even the preliminaries of peace. The other has worked steadily on a foundation, and it is probable that when peace comes the Vatican will play the leading role.

A PROGRESSIVE CONVENTION

Contrary to the fears of many Republicans, there will be no menace in the Progressive convention which Chairman Perkins intimates will be held in Chicago next June, beginning on the same date as the Republican convocation. Quite in the opposite direction, such a convention will serve more quickly to bring the two parties to an agreement, a definite agreement, on the differences which now exist between them, because the leaders and fighting forces of both will be on the ground with complete organizations to whip out whatever unsettled questions may be brought before them.

It is conceded that the Progressive wing will not consent to go backward—will not revert to the murky politics of the bosses—and it may be accepted with equal assurance that it will be cold to advances by the Republicans which are based on partisanship without thought or consideration of the better things for which the new party stands. Nor will it, in the judgment of sane Republicans, consent to having its epitaph written unless the older party assimilates in the amalgamation many of the precepts and principles of the new.

Progressives all over the country seem fully conscious of their importance in the political crisis impending, yet their attitude is more than conciliatory. As in our recent county elections, they are ready and willing to throw the weight of their votes and influence with the Republican party whenever the Republican leaders and the Progressive leaders come into agreement on the issues which are vital between them. No one is more fully alive to this than the Republican leaders themselves, so it is improbable that the two conventions, if both are held, will terminate their sessions without a complete and amicable understanding. All good Republicans hope for this consummation and all good Progressives stand ready and willing to stretch a point if stretching is necessary to bring the parties into accord.

Washington, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—President and Mrs. Wilson will entertain Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, members of the cabinet and their wives and a number of intimate friends at dinner in the White House. Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Durazzo, where the debarkation of Roman legions is reported to be taking place once more, is now scarcely a shadow of the flourishing Adriatic seaport of before the days of Christ and during Roman Empire. Those merchants traded beyond the boundaries of the known world, began a study in war geography just prepared by the National Geographic Society, which tells of the Albanian port that recently awoke to feverish industry with the landing of Italian troops there for service upon the Serbian flank. "At one time, Durazzo, then Dyrrachium, was a favorite starting point for expeditions of conquering Rome; for the Via Egnatia, a great military road, led from this city to Thessalonica, now Saloniki, and so, into the kingdoms of the north and east. The legions that subdued the chaos of the Grecian world and first brought Rome into contact with the Slave passed through Dyrrachium.

"Durazzo lies upon the Adriatic, across from the Italian port of Bari, and 50 miles south from the Albanian capital, Scutari, or, as the natives call it, Scodra. It is built upon the rocky peninsula of Pelu, which marks off the broad Bay of Durazzo from the open Adriatic. Old walls still surround the city, and the gigantic runs of an ancient Byzantine citadel are overgrown with plane trees. Along the coast, around the town, are the diurnal marshes that made it an almost impregnable point for defense in early Roman times. The harbor has slowly silted up. Two miles from the city, the mountains of the Balkans, reflected in the present desolation of the port.

"Epidamnus, as Durazzo was called in its infancy, was founded by a joint colony of Corinthians and Corinthians in the seventh century B. C. It soon became a wealthy trading center, and a hotbed of political dispute; for the democrats and aristocrats fought such a bitter struggle there over the 'Rights of Man,' that Athens, Corinth, and Sparta were drawn into it. This struggle is considered among the contributing causes of the Peloponnesian War. Epidamnus became great and populous. In 229 B. C., it passed into Roman hands and changed its name. Augustus gave the city a colony of his veterans after the Battle of Actium in 31 B. C., and through the next four centuries Durazzo enjoyed its golden age of prosperity. With the breaking up of the Roman Empire it became the shambles of all the Balkans, and has remained the sport of conquest-lusty nations down to the present day."

Among The Politicians

Illinois Prohibitionists will hold their State convention in Peoria at the end of May.

Ex-Gov. Ben W. Hooper, of Tennessee, may try for the Republican congressional nomination in the First district, now represented by Sam R. Sells.

The name of United States Senator George W. Norris, filed recently as a presidential candidate before the Republican primaries of Nebraska, has been withdrawn.

Charles O'Connor Hennessey, member of the New Jersey state senate from Bergen County, has announced he will enter the Democratic primaries as a candidate for governor.

John M. Whitehead, of Jacksonville, former member of the Wisconsin state senate, has entered the contest for the Republican nomination for United States senator to succeed Robert M. La Follette.

Charles C. Craig, of Galeburg, a Justice of the supreme court of Illinois, is being urged by his friends to run for the Democratic nomination for governor of Illinois in the event of Gov. Duane declining to seek reelection.

The Republican State Central Committee of Wisconsin has decided to hold a party conference at Madison near the close of this month to prepare a slate of delegates to the national convention at Chicago. The delegates will be unaffiliated.

The recent marked progress of the prohibition movement throughout the country is expected to attract unusual public attention to the national convention to be held by the party this year. It has been decided to hold the convention in Minneapolis, July 19.

Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man and one of the principal backers of the defunct Federal base ball league, now aspires to be elected Republican National Committeeman for Oklahoma. He will be opposed by James Harris, the present national committeeman.

Senator Boies Penrose is credited

with an intention to make a hard fight in the May primaries for his old seat in the Republican National Committee, as the representative from Pennsylvania. He is also expected to enter the lists as a candidate for delegate at large to the national convention, with the idea of heading a delegation opposed to the presidential aspirations of Governor Brumbaugh.

Political leaders in Washington and elsewhere are watching with much interest the contest between Congressman Woods of Iowa and McKinley, of Illinois for the chairmanship of the Republican congressional campaign committee. McKinley has been selected by the conservative wing, while Woods is the choice of the Progressive faction. McKinley is a former chairman of the campaign committee and Woods is the present chairman.

"General" Jacob S. Cokey, wealthy manufacturer of Massillon, O., who led the "Army of the Commonwealth" to Washington in 1894, has made public the plans for his campaign as independent candidate for United States senator from Ohio to succeed Senator Pettibone. He states he will run on a platform demanding that congress authorize issue of $1,000,000,000 legal tender currency, half of which is to be used in creating a merchant marine, and half for naval equipment or coast defenses.

NORTHWEST POULTRY SHOW.

Wartown, S. D., Jan. 11.—The annual show of the Northwest Poultry Association which opened here today, is one of the largest exhibitions of its kind ever held in this section of the country. Hundreds of high-bred fowl, representing all the varieties known to the fancier, are on display from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa. The judging of exhibits and award of premiums began today and will continue until the close of the show Saturday night.

H. Robert Fowler H. B. Martin Herman Schulteis
Here are three of the men indicted with Representative William Buchanan of Illinois, in connection with plots to help Germany at the cost of American industry. The photograph just taken in Washington shows H. Robert Fowler, former representative from Illinois; H. B. Martin, a friend of Dave Lamm of Wall Street fame, and Herman Schulteis. It was taken after the indictment was found.

PROGRESSIVE NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY

Will Probably Put Entire Ticket in All States This Year

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—Preliminary steps in outlining the Progressive campaign for 1916 on national, not state issues, were taken today when the national committee of the Progressive party met here.

State, not national issues, were the basis for the fight last election. Progressives cited. The Progressive party was founded on national issues and its strength is there, party leaders asserted.

Chicago, Denver and Cleveland were leaders for the Bull Moose National Convention in June. Predictions were that the convention will be held June 21, one week after the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis.

Forty-seven national committeemen were to attend the meeting today. A task for the committeemen was to decide how many delegates from each state would be seated at the national convention, based upon the ratio of Roosevelt's vote in each state in 1912.

A difference between the committee meeting today and the impromptu conference that led to the bolt of the T. R. faction from the Republican party four years ago, was the probable absence of Roosevelt himself. He was not seen anywhere about early in the day. Victor L. Sturrock, of Kansas, George W. Perkins, of New York and Gov. Johnson, of California, were mentioned today as presidential possibilities from the Bull Moose standpoint. A full ticket probably will be put in the national race in every state, if possible.

It was predicted that President Wilson's preparedness policy will not be attacked by the Progressives, but they probably will adopt a similar policy as one of their planks.

MRS. MOHR WAS FORMERLY SALES GIRL IN STORE

Former Secretary Tells of Threats Made by Mrs. Mohr to Her Husband

Providence, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—Mrs. Mohr, wife of the murdered physician, whose trial began here yesterday, was Miss Elizabeth Effingham Mann, formerly of Taunton, Mass. When Dr. Mohr first met her she was employed as a sales girl in a Providence department store. She was 19 and the doctor was 35 when they were introduced eleven years ago. Mrs. Mohr is tall and of medium weight with black hair and eyes. She is said to have a very emotional nature.

Closely connected with the principals in the tragedy are two other women, Miss Emily G. Burger, who was seriously wounded at the time of the murder, and Miss Florence Ormsby, who succeeded Miss Burger as Dr. Mohr's secretary. Miss Burger is 28, tall and good looking. Her father was a master brewer and now conducts a saloon in Huntington Avenue. She worked for Dr. Mohr at his office on Stewart Street until last March when, she has stated, she was compelled to leave her position because of Dr. Mohr's attentions. Five days before the shooting she went to work at the doctor's as his secretary at "Montpelier," his Newport villa, while his regular housekeeper was on a vacation.

Miss Ormsby, who is to be one of the state's star witnesses, is 19 and was born in Danbury, Conn. She will tell of alleged threats, oral and written, made against the doctor by his wife; and also of alleged threats to kill Miss Burger or disfigure her features with vitriol. Miss Ormsby was allowed to read and write confidential letters for the murdered physician and says she is familiar with all the three women notes Mrs. Mohr is said to have sent her husband.

EXCITEMENT OVER FOREIGN MATTERS LARGELY ALLAYED

The Party Leaders' Success in Adopting Policy of Waiting

Daily Discussions of Conditions Affecting United States as Result of War Are Certain.

Washington, January 10. (Special The Progress)—After a week of discussion in the senate and house, congressional excitement over the foreign relations of the United States has been considerably allayed. Administration leaders appear to have succeeded in prevailing upon most of their colleagues to adopt a policy of patient waiting, for complete investigation of recent war zone incidents in which American lives were sacrificed. It is certain, however, that there will be daily discussion at the capital of the conditions affecting the United States as a result of the European war now that the bonds of restraint which members so long have been broken. In both houses last week, conservative and radical members emphatically aired their views regarding the paramount issues, and in almost every debate some phase of the foreign affairs of the nation probably will be selected for weeks to come.

Eventually the foreign relations committee of the senate will undertake distribution of all matters pertaining to the European conflict which have come before it including proposals for investigating British neutrality with neutral shipping and the frequent attacks upon neutral ships which American lives have been sacrificed or imperiled.

The committee planned to begin the work last week, but deferred action pending further efforts of the state department through diplomatic negotiations with foreign powers.

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, author of the resolution which would direct inquiry into the British treatment of trade has given notice that he will address the senate this week on phases of the cotton situation affected by the attitude of Great Britain.

Senator Smith and other members of congress today received cablegrams from the American Association of Commerce and Trade in Berlin praying for action to assist American firms there declared to be facing ruin because of the British blockade.

"I did not pay much attention to the cablegram," said Senator Smith. "I am not interested in Americans in Berlin. I want something done for the Americans who stay at home. I want American citizens in the United States to have their rights."

Deliberation on the subject of national preparedness is now fairly under way in both houses of congress. The leaders agree that it will be many weeks before any definite idea can be formulated as to the naval and army bills. This week the senate committee on military affairs will begin hearings on army reorganization, the house committee having begun last week.

Revenue legislation in the meantime will be considered. Representative Kitchin, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, agree that it would be useless to discuss means of raising revenue until the program is far enough advanced to indicate how much money will be needed.

Before the house military committee this week, Major General Scott, chief of staff of the army and chief of the military department, will appear before the committee.

Scott will appear before the committee to discuss the military department's plan to reorganize the army and to discuss the military department's plan to reorganize the army.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Ray's Indigestion Remedy From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food, delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a medical authority. He asserts that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, tummy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we cruetate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from the pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mucus, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure and digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Hell! Some weather was; and just our luck, the earth's a skating rink and we have no skates.

Henriery Goosequill says, "We will get a June frost for every one of these 'ere Jinerary fogs." Well, Henriery, June frosts don't bother us now, how to get coal to keep out the present frost is the all consuming question.

The Mt. Joy Grange gave an oyster supper last Friday evening and we were informed they served only dead oysters.

We hear of many cases of "grip" but all are light, and we have heard of no one confined to their beds and it.

Yesterday, on account of the icy roads, we had a hard time keeping the rear end of our buggy behind and once it slid around and turned horse, rig and all in the opposite direction, and the road had to be pretty level if the wheels tracked at all.

The registered letter we lost has been found.

Last week we saw a gray fox on Shaw Brothers farm, near West Goshen school house; also saw one of those other little animals that are very pleasing to the eye but not to the nose and as it was in the road and had just successfully disputed possession of same with a small dog (he was about as sick looking and ill smelling a dog as we ever beheld) we drove way out in the field and left it lord of all it surveyed.

Plynn pursued him, striving to bring his heavy artillery against the enemy's inner works, Levinson triumphed him plentifully, piling up a liberal margin of points. Incidentally he made an awful mess of Flynn's comeliness, which was not a thing to boast of at the outset. The fighting form was simply couldn't bring his brawny arms into play. The effort put him within the enemy's range.

Lewis got himself a good measure of praise for being a little. The fight was Willie's first as a genuine heavyweight and it cost him a lot of perspiration, for Lewis slithered away a full over his opponent with his back-away campaign. Lewis now has bloomed with a claim for the world weight championship and though there are plenty of contenders, Paeky, of Chicago, is considered the best. Maybe Paeky can be forced into the ring with Lewis now that interest in the welterweight has been revived, but if the offers are not ample enough to tempt him, Lewis's friends foresee little difficulty for him in his campaign to an automatic world championship.

The second ward case coming up will hold a dance on January 11, in their house for the benefit of the church.

DE ORO TO DEFEND HIS TITLE

Boston, Jan. 11.—Champion Alf De Oro will defend the world's three cushion billiard title against the challenge of Lloyd Jevne, of Chicago, in a match beginning in this city tomorrow night. It will be the usual championship game of 150, played in three nights, for $250 a ride and a purse of $50.

Jevne's last try for the title was in the city of Boston, where he lost to De Oro in a match of 150.

Jevne has been going remarkably well.

ALEXANDRA PALACE UNIQUE COLONY OF CAPTIVES OF WAR

More Than Three Thousand
Aliens Live Under Military
Rule in White City

No Social Distinction Shown in Three
Battalions Complete City in Itself
With Hospitals, Schools and Churches.

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Jan. 2.—(By Mail.)—Alexandra Palace, England's largest single internment camp for civilian prisoners of war, corresponding to Germany's Ruhleben, near Berlin, is the fascinatingly interesting British Military City I was permitted to visit today. No other press representatives were there; and this is the first time a press man has been permitted to enter this camp.

More than 3,000 enemy aliens, rich and poor from all parts of the world, are living at Alexandra Palace, north London. Hundreds of Croats and Poles from Pittsburgh and Detroit, captured on their way home to fight; well known European musical artists, interned while performing in England; Germans and Austrians taken from ships in the Atlantic and the North Sea and Austro-German directors of big British firms; together with alien inhabitants of England, some of thirty years' residence, make a unique and remarkable colony, for the duration of the war.

There is no social distinction in the three battalions of a thousand men each. Military discipline prevails. It effects the English-German aristocrat and the lowliest Pittsburgh steel worker alike. A company of British soldiers guards the palace which in peace time served as a London Coney Island, or White City.

There are benevolent societies, directors' meetings, institutes of painting, drawing, sculpture; a theatre that would do credit to Broadway, workshops for dozens of trades, a fully equipped hospital; schools, post offices, foot ball and Swedish drill; laundries, mammoth spotless kitchens, stores and shops, commodious bath rooms and dozens of other things inside the barbed wire enclosing this multitude.

"They are making the best of it and it is my duty to let them enjoy life to the limit of military possibilities," remarked Col. Froom Walker, a British regular army veteran of twenty years in the Orient, who is the commandant.

The commandant's words voice the British attitude toward prisoners of war, both military and civilian. It considers the human side of those forced to live behind wire entanglements. Once a week the commandant turns over his office to prisoners who have complaints. He hears the stories and does what he can. The man with a grudge tells his troubles to the captain of his mess. If it is meritorious, the complaint is passed to the alien commander who governs a hundred men. He takes it up with the battalion commander, another alien who governs a thousand men. Then the complainant may appear in person before the veteran commandant, who never "strafes" the enemy.

Twice weekly the commandant personally inspects every one of the 3,000 beds housed under the great roofs of the palace. These beds are neat and clean, with four blankets and a soft mattress for each.

There are eight cooks for every

No Truth In It

The story to the effect that I bought and sold a part of the carcass of a diseased cow killed by a resident of East End is absolutely untrue. No part of the animal in question was bought by me or sold by me. Thanking my patrons for their patronage and confidence, and assuring them of best service and lowest prices, ...

thousand prisoners. The food is prepared and taken to the three great mess rooms, each of which can compare in floor space to the main lobby of New York's Grand Central station. Here is the food allowance, per man per day: 1½ pounds of white bread, ½ pound of meat; ½ pound of potatoes; two ounces of pea, lentils, beans or rice; two ounces of sugar; ½ ounce of tea or two ounces of coffee; one ounce of margarine or two ounces of cheese, tinned milk, salt and pepper. There is afternoon tea with bread and butter.

Each battalion has a large canteen where a prisoner may augment his food supply. The wealthier internees freely patronize the canteens, but the ordinary fare is better than the average Pittsburgh steel worker ever had in his life. These Pittsburghers aren't anxious for the war to close. They're satisfied.

The American embassy, God-father of all enemy aliens to the British Isles, works hand in hand with a special committee of the wealthier interned men to care for the special wants of the poor. The women and children on the outside are the principal beneficiaries of this joint benevolent society. More than 3,000 cases have been attended to since September.

Almost every prisoner looks forward eagerly to the weekly theatre. Here artists, some high in the profession perform vaudeville stunts. Professional actors present the latest plays. The theatre will seat 1,500 persons. The scenery was painted by artists who rank high in British and German art circles and is infinitely better than that found in the average London playhouse.

A smaller hall, for 500 persons is set aside for the evening musicals. This hall is always crowded. At tonight's concert Herr F. Lorant, an Austrian violinist who will be heard in America after the war, was the star attraction. His program, much applauded, was: Toulou's Trille, by Tartini; Nocturne, Chopin-Sarasat; Zephyr, Hubay; Ballad & Polonaise, Visuxtemp. An evergreen wreath was presented to Lorant by his admirers, the commandant doing the honor. Herr Lino Vesco, a Hungarian grand opera singer, reaped plaudits with Romanza aus Don Sebastiano by Donizetti. A piano solo, "Ballade As Dur," by A. Reschowsky, who studied under Paderewski, also was vociferously received.

Wonderful rose gardens surrounding the palace are kept by the aliens. In these gardens the married men receive visits from their wives or friends once a month, for fifteen minutes.

Special dispensation is granted to interned business men. Today a meeting of the directorate of a big British company, both British and German members attending, was going on in a room provided for the purpose. A British officer was listening. One of the German directors has lived in England for twenty years. He owns a mansion in London, a summer home at Margate, and has ten servants and an income that runs into six figures.

On Sunday there are church services for all creeds—Catholics, Lutheran, Jewish included; the latter for the scores of interned Polish and German Jews. Prisoners may write two letters each week. They smoke when they want to and do what they want to and there is no grumbling.

OKLAHOMA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 11.—The Oklahoma State Historical Society held its twenty-first annual meeting here today, with President Jasper Sipes, of this city, presiding. Many members were in attendance. In addition to the usual program of business the society listened to a number of interesting papers and addresses on topics of historical interest.

SPEEDBOAT ORGANIZATION FORMED IN MID-WEST

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(By United Press.)—A new speedboat organization, in which the east will be represented only by Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and Toledo, is to be formed here this week. All the famous trophies and fastest motor power boats are now in the middle West. Apportionment of dates on the speed boat circuit of the great lakes will be the first task before the new organization.

Instead of choosing the champion boat from any one race, it is planned to total the number of points each boat has made in contests under the auspices of the organization and pick a winner. James A. Puph's Disturber IV now holds the championship.

BRYAN EXPECTED TO ANSWER

New York, Jan. 11.—William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, is expected to appear in the supreme court here tomorrow, which is the day set for him to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court for failure to obey a subpoena. Early in December Mr. Bryan was subpoenaed to appear as a witness in a libel suit brought by Petros P. Tatanis against a Greek newspaper. The plaintiff wished to question Mr. Bryan whether certain secrets of gun fire control were divulged to officials of the Greek government when two American battleships were sold to Greece.

Actions are the substance of life, dreams are life's shadows.
